LANGTONS

The Margaret River Wine Association acknowledges the Wadandi (Saltwater) people as the traditional custodians of this land, and we pay our respects to their Elders past, present and future.

Message from the Chair

Judging for the 2024 Wine Show once again took place on Wadandi Boodja at the Margaret River HEART. In his first year as Chair of Judges, David Bicknell, Chief Winemaker at Oakridge Wines in the Yarra Valley, expertly led his team of visiting and local judges through 650 exhibits from 91 producers.

This year, we are delighted to welcome the Endeavour Group as our naming rights sponsor, and we look forward to a long partnership with them. Vasse Steel Solutions, JAS Forwarding Australia and Wine s of Western Australia have also joined us as new sponsors. We extend our gratitude to them and to our many returning sponsors for their invaluable support.

We are immensely thankful for the dedication of our hardworking Stewards, Volunteers, and Wine Show Committee team, who generously give their time.

Congratulations to all the 2024 Endeavour Group Margaret River Wine Show medal and trophy recipients!

2024 Margaret River Wine Show

Class 01

2023 & 2024 Cabernet Sauvignon

Judges: Erin Larkin, Angus Hughson, Rob Mack, Larissa Dalli Cani, Foni Pollitt, Feleasha Prendergast, Diana Pineda, Sophie Ward, Ellin Tritt, Cyndal Petty

One judge on this panel has judged at eight wine shows this year, and remarked that this was the single strongest class at any show in 2024. This is reflected in the final scores. 2023 is clearly responsible for a high number of great wines. The best were light, detailed, balanced, perfumed and supple, with flowers, red fruits and chalky tannins. The criticism - rare - was levelled at wines dominated by oak, wines that appeared hollow (plenty of frame but where is the stuffing), some green wines. There was not a lot to complain about, it was an exceptional class.

Class 02

2022 Cabernet Sauvignon

Judges: Erin Larkin, Angus Hughson, Tim Dolan, Rob Mack, Larissa Dalli Cani, Foni Pollitt, Feleasha Prendergast, Steven Paul, Kasia Sobiesiak, Diana Pineda, Sophie Ward, Ellin Tritt, Cyndal Petty, Ulrika Larsson, Rory Parks

The best wines in this class were magnificent, however many wines were dried out, over-oaked and out of balance. There were some suspected microbial issues (and if they weren't they looked it). The gap between excellent, and the rest, is starting to widen.

Comments: Unsurprisingly a strong class. Best wines showing how this vintage, handled well, can produce wines of epic quality that will live a long life. Many of the lower pointed wines were quite developed and / or in the overripe spectrum.

Class 03

2021 Cabernet Sauvignon

Judges: Erin Larkin, Steven Paul, Feleasha Prendergast, Diana Pineda, Sophie Ward

Comments: The 2021 season was hard in Margaret River, and it showed in so many of these wines. Many lacked freshness, suffered from lighter fruit weight, and were burdened with heavy oak. The best wine is a lovely example - the oak is present but not domineering -and we enjoyed it.

2020 and older Cabernet Sauvignon

Judges: Erin Larkin, Steven Paul, Feleasha Prendergast, Diana Pineda, Sophie Ward

Comments: Some of the wines looked prematurely aged, and this was a shame. Oak a dominant factor of many, again, a shame. The best still showing fresh fruit characters and balanced tannins.

2022 Cabernet Sauvignon Predominant Blends

Judges: Tim Dolan, Foni Pollitt, Larissa Dalli Cani, Ulrika Larsson, Rory Parks

Comments: Strong class with a diverse mix of richer, blue fruited styles along with the lighter framed, medium bodied, floral styles, Judges were determined to award both ends of the spectrum. Some of the lesser wines starting to fade, or were out of balance - predominantly too ripe, and / or too oak driven.

Class 08

2023 & 2024 Shiraz / Syrah

Judges: Erin Larkin, Foni Pollitt, Kasia Sobiesiak, Diana Pineda, Sophie Ward

Comments: This was a lovely class to judge. Plenty of bright fruit numbers, and nice fresh, medium bodied wines. we must emphatically mention that oak was a dominant theme here, and that the best wines did NOT display any overt oak characters. While it is a tool to help boost and support structure and texture, it easily overwhelms the fruit, which is inherently lighter and softer in Margaret River, than other regions in Western Australia. Be mindful of this. Very few obvious faults otherwise.

2024 Margaret River Wine Show

2024 Chardonnay

Judges: Erin Larkin, Rob Mack, Larissa Dalli Cani, Diana Pineda, Sophie Ward

Comments: 2024 Chardonnay as current vintage wines to judge, is always going to be a simple task - the wines look unevolved and straightforward, as we would expect. This panel had very little entries to assess: six wines, so an overview of the season is hard to come by. Underripe characters in the wines were their undoing, as the impact on acidity and phenolics was felt. This is understandable considering the cards dealt by the season. On balance, a good class.

Unbelievable class to judge. So so many great wines. Thanks for entering them. The 2023 season clearly managed to extract the best from most estates in the region, well done.

Some criticism (sorry):

- green/underripe fruit was a bit of an issue, especially when used in a high solids ferment, of which many were. These really had lean phenolics and were a little mean. So too, some wines were overripe, and lacked the persistent silky acidity that were imbued in the best. Sun burnt/brown phenolics were there, too.

- the usual feedback of oak management: is so much needed in a finer year like 2023? Adjusting to suit the year is important.

Comments: Important to note that this applies to the minority.

The majority of wines were magnificent. 2023 rides high!

Class 16

2022 Chardonnay

Judges: Tim Dolan, Rob Mack, Feleasha Prendergast, Ulrika Larsson, Rory Parks

Comments: A stellar lineup of Chardonnays that have benefited from some extra time in the bottle. This vintage has some extraordinary highlights. However, an extra year or so in bottle can be to the detriment of some wines, which have lost their youthful finesse and vibrancy too early.

The top two wines were a shootout between a powerhouse style, best described as an "iron fist wrapped in a velvet glove," and a more linear, pure-fruited style. Both should be sought out and drunk with great company.

2024 Blends of Sauvignon Blanc & Semillon

Judges: Erin Larkin, Angus Hughson, Steven Paul, Feleasha Prendergast, Rob Mack, Kasia Sobiesiak, Diana Pineda, Sophie Ward, Ellin Tritt, Cyndal Petty

Comments: A good class that at times showed the challenge of the season that was. The best wines discarded the summer heat and were attractive in their freshness and complexity. The callbacks represented a splay of styles - naked, unoaked etc.

The criticism of the wines during judging included: under/overripe characters, jarring acidity, pronounced phenolics (that did not appear intentionally built in) and lack of freshness. However, most of the wines were lovely, and showed freshness, crunch and herbal lift - as they should!

Judges: Tim Dolan, Foni Pollitt, Larissa Dalli Cani, Ulrika Larsson, Rory Parks OLD

Comments: Some great examples of purity and freshness, with eminent drinkability. Top two wines were textbook in style and precision. A few of the lesser wines had lost their freshness and / or didnt have the depth of fruit to warrant a medal.

Comments: Diverse class of which we saw half. Some brilliant entries here, the best was texturally engaging, fresh, and delicious. Some issues with freshness, complexity (although this wasn't necessarily punished, only noted), and certainly varietal typicity.

Class 22 2023 & 2024 Rose

Judges: Erin Larkin, Angus Hughson, Steven Paul, Feleasha Prendergast, Rob Mack, Kasia Sobiesiak, Diana Pineda, Sophie Ward, Ellin Tritt, Cyndal Petty

A difficult class for several reasons.

- Many wines achieved perfect colour at the expense of flavour. This was noted and marked accordingly. Colour doesn't matter when it's in the mouth - flavour does. Over-enthusiastic fining might achieve the colour you seek, but it robs the wine of pleasure.

Comments: This is key to the success of Rosé.

- Intention. The best Rosé's start at the beginning of the season, not at the end.

- Texture is celebrated. Overly glossy/polished wines missed the boat. They were sound, but did not number among the best.

The best wines in this class were a joy. They had personality and flavour, texture and drive. Well done!

Sparkling Wine

Judges: Tim Dolan, Foni Pollitt, Larissa Dalli Cani, Ulrika Larsson, Rory Parks

Comments: underwhelming class. The top two wines were a stakeout between freshness and drinkability vs complexity coming from long tirage and cork age.

Class 24

Sweet White Table Wine

Judges: Erin Larkin, Steven Paul, Feleasha Prendergast, Diana Pineda, Sophie Ward

Comments: The class is too small to make a definitive opinion about the quality of Margaret River Sweet Table whites... but the judges enjoyed one of these wines slightly more for its florals, balance, freshness and levity.

Red Alternative Styles

Judges: Angus Hughson, Rob Mack, Kasia Sobiesiak, Ellin Tritt, Cyndal Petty

Comments: Question marks over what constitutes "alternative", therefore class relevance. Unfined, unfiltered, low/no sulfur, eggs etc all live in the domain of contemporary "conventional" winemaking as well.

Class 26	2	Happs Wines	Happs 2023 Shiraz	95	Gold

Class 27

White Alternative Styles

Judges: Angus Hughson, Rob Mack, Kasia Sobiesiak, Ellin Tritt, Cyndal Petty

Comments: Question marks over what is "alternative" and therefore the relevance of this class. Suggestions that skin contact, low sulfur or the use of alternative vessels (eg eggs) are not enough to justify inclusion as all these techniques live in the realm of current day conventional winemaking too.
